

Amy Harcourt

PT, DPT, SCS, COMT

EDUCATION:

Doctor of Physical Therapy – Regis University

Master of Science in Physical Therapy – Texas Woman’s University

Bachelor of Science in Athletic Training – Carson-Newman College

PROFESSIONAL CERTIFICATIONS:

Board Certified Clinical Specialist in Sports Physical Therapy (SCS),
American Board of Physical Therapy Specialties

Certified Orthopedic Manual Therapist (COMT), Ola Grimsby Institute

Credentialed Clinical Instructor, APTA

Certified Vestibular Rehabilitation, APTA

Certified in Integrative Dry Needling, Integrative Dry Needling Institute (CIDN)

Certified in the Graston Technique, Instrument Assisted Soft Tissue Mobilization

TEACHING:

Associate Professor Nova Southeastern University Doctor of Physical Therapy Program, Tampa Bay

Orthopedic Residency Coordinator Nova Southeastern University

Faculty clinical instructor in the Nova Southeastern University, Shark Motion pro bono clinic

PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONS:

American Physical Therapy Association (APTA) member

American Council of Academic Physical Therapy (ACAPT) member

2307 S. Dale Mabry Hwy, Suite F, Tampa, FL 33629

P: 813-374-9508

F: 813-443-5599

Admin@potentiatherapeutics.com

Amy Harcourt

PT, DPT, SCS, COMT

MEET AMY:

AMY HARCOURT received her bachelor of science degree from Carson-Newman College in TN in Athletic Training before completing a Master of Science in Physical Therapy at Texas Women's University in Dallas, TX. Amy later completed her transitional Doctor of Physical Therapy degree through Regis University in CO.

Currently, Amy is a full-time faculty member at Nova Southeastern University's Hybrid Doctor of Physical Therapy program in Tampa Bay and leads courses in musculoskeletal physical therapy and orthopedics. She also serves as the coordinator for the Orthopedic Residency program. She is honored to have the privilege to care for patients as part of the Potentia Team.

Amy specializes in orthopedics, sports, vestibular, balance, and concussion rehabilitation and is a Board Certified Clinical Specialist in Sports Physical Therapy (SCS) as well as a Certified Orthopedic Manual Therapist (COMT). She is credentialed in Dry Needling (CIDN) and the Graston technique, a form of instrument assisted soft tissue mobilization.

Amy is from Clearwater and enjoys spending time with her husband, 2 teenage boys, and dog - Sammy. She travels to Canada regularly to visit family on her husband's side and loves a taste of the cold weather and snow. She also loves visiting the mountains and hiking and enjoys watching her boys play sports: golf, soccer, and football. Amy is passionate about exercise and fitness and also loves learning new things. Currently, she is learning to golf and enjoys tackling home projects in her "spare time".

2307 S. Dale Mabry Hwy, Suite F, Tampa, FL 33629

P: 813-374-9508

F: 813-443-5599

Admin@potentiatherapeutics.com